Hartnell-Community Theatre Play Cast Has Wilson and Drew in Lead Parts

Charles Drew, veteran actor of the Hartnell Little Theatre, will again take the lead role in the College Community Theater production.

As the Shadow, main character in "Death Takes a Holiday," Drew will portray an immortal being, who, in search of why men fear him, becomes a mortal for three days. During this time nothing on earth dies — there is only life.

Karen Wilson has been cast as Grazia, the beautiful young daughter of Duke Lambert (Tom Sinclair) and Duchess Stephenie (Mrs. Barbara Weppener).

As the female lead, Grazia is a very remote individual, happy to be alone; she appears to be in search of something, exactly what no one knows.

A delightful love story centers around Grazia and Prince Sirki (the title Death has assumed) in an old Italian castle, amidst the gay, sophisticated nobility of the early 20th century.

As the guest of Duke Lambert, Prince Sirki lives a lifetime in three days. He meets three lovely women: Rhoda Fenton (Kitty Weppener); Alda (Connie Sauret), and Grazia. He experiences the emotion of love; and, through these women and the other guests in the castle, he learns why mortals fear him.

Corrado, who also loves Grazia, is played by Bob Grossman; Eric Fenton, by Jeff Haines; Baron Cesarea, Rudy Draper; Princess of San Luca, Mrs. Eva Tavernetti; Fedele, Frank Sutherland; Cora, Carrie Grader; Major Whitread, Ron Bottini.

Stage manager for this play is Madeline Olvera; assistant manager, Mrs. Barbara Weppener; posters, Kitty Weppener; box office and head usherette, Jan Woodard; publicity, Ron Bottini; Patti Jensen, makeup.

The set, designed by Mr. Ulrici, director of the play, will be done in a black and white marble effect. Building the set with Mr. Ulrici are Madeline Olvera, Patti Jensen, Drew, and Norman Davies.

March 3, 4 and 10, 11 will be the presentation dates of the play. Admission will be 75 cents for ASB card holders, and $1.00 for all others.

ROYALTY INVADES HARTNELL STAGE

■ "Now let's see, if the Princess stands here, and Death sits over there while the Duke is giving his speech, where does his Duchess move? Or does she sit still? These are the questions going through the mind of Mr. Harold Ulrici (second from left) as he "blocks out" the action in the third act of "Death Takes a Holiday," next Hartnell-Community Theater production. Of course the characters are not really royalty. But playing the principal parts in the 1920's symbolic drama are, left to right) Eva Tavernetti, Tom Sinclair, Charles Drew (partially hidden) and Barbara Weppener. "Blocking the scene" determines who will move where and when. Serious rehearsals of the play will continue up to the opening night during the first week in March.

In an interview Finis recalled his days at Hartnell and said: "Looking back, what I remember best of my days at college was the faculty. Why, take Mr. Amyx. You could write a book on the successes of his former students. Mr. Amyx is probably one of the best art teachers in California."

Mr. Jeffers, whose nickname is "Jeff," majored in art at Hartnell, then Salinas J.C. He was also the student athletic commissioner here (with a special fondness for baseball and basketball) and was instrumental in organizing the all-state junior conferences.

After a "hitch" in the U.S. Air Force as a navigator and bomber he returned to Salinas to become associated with Ray King in a commercial painting enterprise. Finis also does "free-lancing" cartoons for the Salinas Californian.

Organization abilities and love of youth led him to help Salinas form the Connie Mack team for boys from 15 to 18, and then Finis went on to offer the same assistance to Monterey, Fort Ord and Santa Cruz.

As a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, "Jeff," taught seventh and eighth grades, is a past president of the Salinas J.C.'s, and Hartnell Alumni Association.

Have you any plans for Hartnell as president of the Hartnell College Board of Trustees, "he was questioned.

"The nearest thing to my heart is to see the new College Master Plan completed," he answered. "As one of the first steps we hope to have the men's dormitory completed and ready for occupancy THIS September," he stated.

"What advice can I pass on to the present-day students of Hartnell? Tell them the most important part of college is to enjoy everything it has to offer. To apply themselves to the work and study and social life. Tell them to be 'all-around.'"

Where did the name Finis come from? It was a family hand-me-down and the last to have it was my Uncle Finis," then laughingly he added, "Guess they looked at me and decided I was the Finis — the end."

(Sorry, Finis, your family was wrong. Salinas feels you are the end and the beginning of many things.)

Music Scholarships Are Now Available

Fifty-dollar scholarships will be given to a freshman and a sophomore student scoring highest in a competitive musical examination, it was announced today by Mr. Vahe Aslanian, Hartnell College choral director.

The examination, to be judged by the three members of the music faculty, is set for February 20 at 3 p.m. The exam itself covers elementary theory, history of music and individual performance from any of the instructors. Applications will be taken at the same time.

These scholarships will be given to the winners by the executive board of the Hartnell Community Chorus at a formal occasion later this year.

Funds for the scholarships come from proceeds of the performances given by this chorus which is one of the classes offered in the extended day curriculum.

DAY ENROLLMENT SIMILAR TO FALL'S

The enrollment of day students attending Hartnell this spring semester will probably amount to the same as it did last fall.

By the end of today when registration is completed, it should total 1,100 as compared with 1,164 enrollment of last semester.

Last semester the dropout rate was 264 students, and it is expected that the number of dropouts will be similar to that of the fall semester.

Medical Science Is Topic Of Public Health Series

A program aimed at advancement of public information concerning the medical world and the human body is being presented to the community this semester as a joint effort of the Monterey County Medical Society and Hartnell College.

The series, entitled "Introduction to Medical Science," is being presented by distinguished medical members of the Salinas area who are associated with the various hospitals in Monterey County.

The following subjects will be discussed in the course of the series: "What You Should Know About Medicine," to be presented by Dr. T. D. Englehorn, orthopedic specialist; "Cancer, Including New Developments," by Dr. F. Hilton Smith, chief of staff at Monterey County Hospital; "The Man Who Puts You to Sleep," by Dr. James DeBartolo, anaesthetist; "X-Ray Facts and Fallacies," by Dr. Joseph J. Shebl, radiologist; "Heart—Modern Theories," by Dr. Frederick Pletta, internalist; and "The Human Eye—A Photographic Instrument," by Dr. Frederick Kraft, eye specialist.

Hartnell students in Health Education classes and other biological science courses are recommended to attend these lectures during the course of the spring semester, as they will prove both informative and beneficial in the

The "Seed" Sprouts At Opening Show

Today, at 3:00 in the main lounge of the student union, Larry Heer, editor of this year's "Seed" magazine, will introduce the new edition to the Hartnell student body.

Expected to be one of the most talked about essays in the edition is Mike Rafat's "Hello American Taxpayers." As a foreign student, Mike gives his opinion of the American foreign policy.

Other foreign students have made contributions to this issue of the "Seed," which will make for interesting reading to those who are interested in hearing other people's viewpoints on numerous topics.

Copies of the "Seed" will be sold at the meeting for 50 cents, and later they will be sold in the main hall and various places downtown.

gained knowledge gathered from attendance.

The program subjects are still subject to minor change, and other lectures may be included in the series. The dates of programs will be announced at a later time.

Editorial

WHAT ARE WE, ADULTS OR PIGS?

By the time a person graduates from high school, he is considered an adult; a prerequisite for entrance into Hartnell is a high school diploma, but the conduct witnessed in various locations on campus. . . .

The library should be approached in a studious, serious manner. Riotous laughter, excessive whispering and throwing tennis balls are not acceptable, no matter which athletic club you belong to. Such outrageous behavior is hard to believe, but the librarians and other students can tell you that it is true.

Sitting, smoking, talking, finger-snapping and foot-stomping belong in the Student Union, not the cafeteria. (The Student Union is behind the doors marked Main Lounge and Women's Lounge, and is not exclusively limited to men.)

A student eating in the cafeteria should have ambition, courtesy, and gumption enough to return his utensils to the place provided.

Another distinctive mark of the cafeteria, alias S.U., is the grease pattern about a third of the way up the wall, left by various intellectual "front porch" philosophers who lean their heads back against the wall, leaving nothing behind but their contribution to the stained wall.

The women's lounge was closed the end part of last semester in an effort to keep food out of the room, and a sign urging that students use the ash trays provided has been posted on a window of the cafeteria; it threatens to make the cafeteria a "no smoking" area if the students do not improve their smoking manners.

If we are guilty of any of the activities mentioned, we are not mentally adult. We are not doing our best to contribute to the atmosphere expected of us in a place of higher learning, and we do not belong here at Hartnell.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Students are reminded that they can exercise their opinions in the newspaper by writing letters to the editor. Letters should be signed, but names will be withheld if requested. They should be put in the copy box in Room 9 by the Tuesday preceding the issuance of the Sentinel.

Can Education Be Condensed?

The Hartnell College Board of Directors has begun an investigation of the trimester system of semesters, and the advantages or disadvantages it would have if used in Hartnell.

More compact course, more units per semester, more semesters in a year's time, and many other points are the advantages.

One disadvantage is that some colleges do not give credit for some courses under the trimester system.

We urge you to make known your opinions in the form of letters to the paper.

Somehow the Sentiment Has Changed

Since the beginning of Valentine's Day, the tradition of expressing one's affection has been expressed in writing and greeting cards.

This habit is much the same as it was many years ago but . . . with the introduction of a few character artists into the card industry, the flowers and lace have been discarded to daggers and poison, and the heart, the symbol of this day, has gone square.

A modern day cupid ranges in character from a beatnik in dark glasses to a cynical blabber mouth.

Valentines are no longer sent for affection, but rather for much stronger adverse emotions. After all, it's the thought behind that counts.

Kennedy Election: Inevitable?

By Gene Poe

There resides in Los Angeles an extraordinary numerologist who claims to be a reincarnation of the Greek mathematician, Pythagoras, and who calls himself Dr. Matrix. He has been engaged in numerology, the study of the mystical significance which numbers have upon human affairs; he has found "strong" evidence to support the idea that Kennedy's election was inevitable.

According to Dr. Matrix, every U.S. president in the 20th century must have a double letter in his name because of the two digits in 20th. Dwight D. Eisenhower is the only exception, but in both of his elections his opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson, lacked the double letters also; hence Ikes' double initials were sufficient to give him the election. Of course, Nixon lacks the double letters while Kennedy has the two n's. Dr. Matrix points out that further evidence is seen of the inevitability of Kennedy's election when one makes use of an ancient Celtic numerological key:

0	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	I	J
K	L	M	N	O	P	Q	R	S	T
U	V	W	X	Y	Z

If numbers are written in a row from zero to nine and the letters of the alphabet are put down directly underneath them in the same order, the numerical value of J. F. Kennedy is 35, and the winner of the election is also the 35th president. If this is done with R. M. Nixon the value is 30, which is the newspaper reporter's traditional symbol for the end of a story.

At the recent Republican convention, Nelson Rockefeller introduced Nixon as Richard E. Nixon. When Dr. Matrix was asked to explain this slippage of the tongue, his explanation was very interesting. He claimed that Rockefeller subconsciously was linking Nixon with Thomas E. Dewey, the last Republican to be defeated. When the letter T, from Thomas, is printed in front of R. E. N., and the letter D. from Dewey, is printed in back of R. E. N., the word spelled out is T-R-E-N-D. According to Dr. Matrix this was Rockefeller's subconscious expressing its hope that the national trend for Nixon would be the same trend as it was for Dewey.

Dr. Matrix went on to explain that an "important" attitude hidden to Rockefeller can be seen if one takes the first four letters of Milhous, Nixon's middle name, and sees what happens when the M becomes an E, following Rockefeller's slip of the tongue. Since the election year is 1960, six is the key number here. The sixth letter ahead of E in the alphabet is K, the sixth letter ahead of I is O, the sixth letter ahead of L is R, and the sixth letter ahead of H is N. The new letters now form the word K-O-R-N.

Quoting Dr. Matrix, "This has a double meaning. First, it expressed Rockefeller's private opinion of the speech he had just made; second, it expressed his secret conviction that Kennedy would 'K.O.' R. N."

BEFORE THE STORM

Editor's Note: Appearing in the Minnesota Daily "Ivory Tower" was the following article of significance which we feel should be passed on to the student body for comment and consideration.

"In the sixties, we shall reap what we have sown for so long. We have supported all kinds of Francos, Batistas, Mobutus, Trujillos — anybody who was presumably a safe 'prowestern' — without insisting that to be a part of western civilization implies certain basic rules of political and economic organization. Against this policy of ours, we have recently witnessed powerful popular reactions, but our narrow-mindedness does not allow us to perceive their meaning. And thus — with the conditions we create for Castros and Lumubas — the pendulum swings to the other extreme.

"Now we shout hysterically: 'Communism.' What difference does it make to the Cubans, the Congolese, the Algerians, and the South Africans? We forget that they do not care about the name we attribute to the kind of totalitarianism that prevents them from being decent human beings.

"It is high time — and perhaps not too late — that we abandon our democratic hypocrisies and double standards of morality. It is time to understand the outcry of the colored and hungry world for freedom — not only formal, but economic freedom. It is time to support political and economic structures, however different they may be from ours, through which these aims can be achieved. Otherwise, future historians might be compelled to range among the sad chapters of history the one which deals with democracy and free enterprise."

Hartnell College History Instructor Returns After Researching in Capital and Kentucky

Mr. Robert Johnston, Hartnell College instructor, has just completed one lap of his journey into research on the life history of Jesse D. Carr, pioneer resident of Monterey County.

Johnston, since moving to the Salinas area eleven years ago, has been interested in its history and development. His interest was spurred on when Howard Samuelson, one-time director of the Salinas Public Library, asked him to write some articles on local history for the library. After he compiled an article on the Salinas-Monterey (Hilltown) Bridge area, Johnston began to wonder who was the man who had represented power in Monterey County, both economically and politically. His searchings led him to the name of Jesse D. Carr, very prominent citizen during the second half of the nineteenth century. Johnston's finding proved so interesting that he pursued the subject further and, from his findings, will soon begin writing a book on the life of Jesse Carr.

Last month Johnston returned from a trip that took him to two places in particular: Washington, D.C., and Gallatin, Tenn., in Sumner County, where Carr was born.

In Washington the National Archives and the Library of Congress proved very fruitful to Johnston. There he read many letters to, from, and about Mr. Carr. Besides reading history, Mr.

Johnston had a chance to see history in the making by his visits to the House of Representatives and the Supreme Court and his witnessing the inauguration of President Kennedy.

While visiting in Gallatin, Johnston saw and spoke with many of Jesse Carr's relatives. He also went to Nashville, where he spent much time in research of old documents, records and papers.

Before ever leaving Salinas for his trip to Washington, D.C., Johnston spent a great deal of time in local research and in visiting local libraries, such as the Bancroft Library in Berkeley. He learned early in his searchings that Jesse Carr owned eleven leagues, or almost 49,000 acres, of land along the Old Stage Road. The land, which continued almost to Chualar, was used to raise fine cattle and sheep and thoroughbred horses.

In order to compile all possible research, Johnston is planning another trip for this summer—this time to Mexico for two months, where he will investigate Carr's participation as a "sutler," or private contractor, in the Mexican War.

Johnston's findings will not only enable him to write a biography, but they will also be an interesting and valuable addition to his courses in California History, Latin-American History and Political Science when he returns to his classes next fall.

COMMISSION NEWS

At the regular commission meeting plans were pushed for the forthcoming "First Time," four-school dance set for March 11, at Coconut Grove in Santa Cruz.

The four J.C.'s participating are San Benito in charge of publicity; Cabrillo in charge of contracting for the Coconut Grove and policing; Monterey for the bids, and Hartnell which will handle the finances.

Expenses will be paid through the sale of bids which will be $3.50 per couple, $2.00 stag.

Dress for the event will be "dressy," sport. Hartnell, Cabrillo, and Monterey are expected to sell 100 couple and 50 stag bids with San Benito "tagged," for 40 bids. Any loss or profit will be divided among the schools. Commission President Hanna appointed Dudley and Rauscher to work with Miss Handley on a finance policy.

The last Hartnell dance was a success and the new dance policy was workable and effective.

A Roaring 20's faculty dance was suggested for future action.

Paul Rauscher stated that the Hartnell College Calendar of events will be out Friday and every student on campus should get one. No charge. Calendars are in the main office.

EUROPE

Outdoor living in the sun, surf, and sand of the sunny Mediterranean is combined with historical and cultural sightseeing in a 21-day, all-inclusive European jet tour designed by Air France and Club Mediterranee, the French vacation club with an international membership of young adults. Highlight of the tour is a 10-day stay at Cephalu, the club's private village on the island of Sicily, where a program of sports activity, entertainment, and relaxation is planned.

The itinerary covers many points of interest. Four days are allotted to Paris for visits to the Eiffel Tower, the Arch of Triumph, the Louvre, Notre Dame, and Montmartre. A luncheon at the Club Mediterranee's Paris Clubhouse is also on the agenda.

From Paris, groups will be flown to Rome aboard Air France swift Caravelle jets and will proceed directly to Cephalu for the outdoor living segment of the tour. The club has transformed the village in the sun into a Polynesian paradise and living is Tahitian in flavor. The rule of the village is informality and good fellowship.

From Cephalu the tour continues through Italy with sightseeing stops at the ruins of Pompeii, the Blue Grotto at Capri, and the sights of Naples. Three complete days are devoted to the ancient city of Rome with excursions to the Castel Sant'Angelo, a private fortress of the popes during the middle ages, the Coliseum, the Forum, and Vatican City. In Rome tour members will board Air France jetliners for the return trip to New York via Paris.

The all-inclusive cost of the 21-day tour is $898.90. The price includes transportation, hotel accommodations, meals, sightseeing trips, and entitles tour participants to membership in the Club Mediterranee. Further information and details may be obtained at Air France offices throughout the country or at local travel agencies.

Panthers Drop Game to MPC Rivals Providing Exciting Watching For Fans

The annual basketball clash between rivals Hartnell and MPC ended up in a 49-59 defeat for the Panthers. The game, which was played Tuesday night, Feb. 7, in the Hartnell gym, was an exciting contest with the Panthers' second half drive falling ten points short.

Hartnell trailed the Lobos by three points at the half, 21-24. From the opening minutes of the second half it was obvious to the many Hartnell fans present that the Panthers would not stay behind for long. Timely baskets by Tom Halferty and Charles Noel kept the Panthers in contention for the lead. Several times the lead was tied, then the Panthers or the Lobos would go ahead by one or two points. Hartnell reached its highest point of the game in the closing minutes when it trailed by three points, 46-49. From this point on the Lobos scored ten quick points on jump shots and free throws compared to the three points scored by the Panthers.

Monterey's victory would have to be credited to the free throws made in the final minutes of the game. Although the Lobos outfouled the Panthers 19-12, the Hartnell fouls came in the crucial moments of the game.

Halferty and Noel played an outstanding game by hitting for a combined 48 per cent of field goals and a 71 per cent free throw average. Noel was high for the Panthers with 13 points while teammate Halferty hit for 12. Great defensive efforts should be credited to Joe Chappel and Lawson Maddox, as well as to the rest of the Panther squad, for their fine job of breaking up many Monterey plays. Several times a "sure" basket by a Monterey player was blocked by Chappel.

The next home game for the Panthers will be played tonight when Hartnell takes the floor against the Jaguars from San Jose City College in a Coast Conference game. The Jaguars are currently leading the conference with a 5-1 record. In the last encounter with San Jose Jan. 20, the Panthers lost, 53-60. Hartnell will be out for revenge in this game.

Second Half Surge Wins Game; Cold First Half Loses Game

Hartnell's Panthers, down five points at the half, came to life in the second half to score a 58-51 conference victory over Cabrillo College Tuesday night in Hartnell's gymnasium.

The Panthers, starting cold in the first half, could score only 22 points compared to 27 by Cabrillo. Although the victory was an over-all team victory, much credit should be given to Charles Noel and Lawson Maddox who sparked the second half surge by hitting for 13 and 10 points respectively.

Cabrillo has improved tremendously since the last encounter with the Panthers. Hartnell defeated Cabrillo 87-49 in their first meeting during the Diablo Valley Coast Conference Tournament on December 16.

The Hartnell Panthers, having their season long trouble of playing a cold first half, found themselves too far behind to overcome a 21-38 halftime lead set by Foothill College Friday night, Feb. 4, in the Los Altos High School gym.

Foothill's Owls jumped off to an early 12-0 lead before the Panthers could find their shooting eyes, and the Owls were able to hold on to the lead throughout the remainder of the game to take a 72-52 victory.

Some credit for the victory should also be given to the defensive effort made by the Owls. Charles Noel, the usual high scorer for the Panthers, could come up with only three points for the night. Lawson Maddox was high for the Panthers with 15 while Chiotti of Foothill netted 23 points.

Teammate Lawson Maddox scrambles for position under the boards as he follows the play. Lawson was one of the high scorers along with Charles Noel for the Panthers. Lawson hit for 11 points while Charles contributed 13 points. Hartnell went on to win the game, 58-52, for a Coast Conference victory played in Hartnell's gym last Tuesday night, Jan. 31.

Women Basketeers Had Winning Season

The most successful women's team in the history of Hartnell's WAA completed its season this year with an 8-2 win record.

According to Ann Salmon, president of WAA; Dorothy Coop, president of AWS and team member; and Mrs. Dorothy Middaugh, group adviser, the team "had a ball" traveling to other clubs, playing and participating on the winning team.

Teams played by the women included Santa Cruz Recreation Center, twice; Monterey Peninsula College, three times; Watsonville Buddhists, once; Palma High School, twice; and the Fort Ord WAC's, who beat our team by close margins in each of the two games played with them.

The varsity tennis program is now in progress and all women are invited to participate; it fulfills the P.E. requirement and gives credit for half a unit. The six-top winners will travel to Modesto for the state tournament to compete with others in tennis.

Also slated to begin soon is the badminton tournament, sponsored by the WAA members each year. The team last year won only half its games and two years ago the WAA'ers didn't win one.
